

got peek?

hi-tech seals now stocks and distributes peek

- tube stock or finished pieces
- manufacturers prices
- large range of sizes
- small walled tubes for less waste
- quick delivery
- technical support

peek has excellent tensile strength and elongation characteristics making it a good choice for high temperature and high pressure applications. due to its hardness, peek is commonly used for anti-extrusion purposes and valve seat applications. it is also inert to most chemicals.

call our sales team today to get your pricing - 438.6055

let us take care of your problems